

'JAP' STRONGHOLDS IN SOLOMONS AND NEW GUINEA AREAS UNDER CONTINUED BOMBARDMENT; U. S. TROOPS PROGRESS

Naval Units Shell Enemy Installations on Islands of Ballale and Faisi—Yank Ground Forces Are in Possession of Viru Harbor on New Georgia Island

By International News Service

Jap strongholds in the Solomons and New Guinea battle areas were under continued merciless bombardment today as Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced further progress in the powerful offensive by United States land, sea and air forces in the south and southwest Pacific.

The latest communique announced destruction of the Jap garrison on Rendova Island in the Solomons and bombardment of the Munda air base on nearby New Georgia Island by Yank shore and naval artillery.

Naval units also shelled enemy installations on the islands of Ballale and Faisi 150 miles to the northwest, off the southeast tip of Bougainville island, site of an important Jap operational base.

Yank ground forces were in possession of Viru harbor on New Georgia Island, only 30 miles south-east of the Munda airdrome.

American troops who landed at Nassau Bay, New Guinea, New Salamaua, consolidated their positions after repulsing Jap counterattacks.

Allied patrols based at Wan, 35 miles southwest of the enemy's Salamaua base, also joined in the fighting against Nipponese troops, killing at least 26 in inland jungle fighting.

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said Allied casualties in all operations were being held to "a gratifying minimum."

The heaviest resistance was met in the Rendova-New Georgia battle, where large numbers of enemy planes continued to attack the invasion forces. Latest word from Allied headquarters increased to 101 the number of enemy planes shot down by Allied anti-aircraft guns and fighter planes. Headquarters listed 17 of our planes as missing.

Allied heavy bombers meanwhile continued to batter Rabaul, on New Britain Island, main enemy base north of Australia, dumping 22 tons of bombs on Rabaul's three airdromes to pin down the enemy's air force. Medium bombers supporting ground forces closing in on Salamaua, New Guinea, plastered the enemy base and the nearby Jap base at Lae while attack planes bombed and strafed enemy defenses.

In Washington, observers expressed the opinion that the formidable offensive from the Solomons and New Guinea might smoke out the Japanese fleet, believed hiding at the Truk base, following failure of Jap warplanes to blunt the Allied thrust.

The Jap news agency Domei, elaborating on Tokyo claims of Allied losses at Rendova, today said Nipponese planes sank a cruiser and five destroyers. The Allies, however, so far have announced only the sinking of one transport, with no loss of life.

The comparative lull in the Allied air war on Europe continued. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters in North Africa announced an attack on barracks and the railway station at Cagliari in Southern Sardinia by bombers from North Africa Wednesday night. Air activity over the Western Mediterranean by Northwest Africa planes yesterday.

"A" Book Revoked for 2 Months; Drove To Resort

Hearings in three cases of alleged pleasure driving violations took place on Wednesday evening at the headquarters of Bristol rationing board.

A Bristol motorist, who holds only an "A" gasoline ration book, was charged with driving to a seaside resort. His "A" book was revoked for a period of two months.

Two Bristol motorists, who some time ago had been charged with speeding, and who had already pleaded guilty to the charges and paid fines, were given no penalty by the rationing board. Inasmuch as the fines had been forthcoming, and the charges were presented some time ago no action was taken by the board.

The price panel board held its initial session on Wednesday evening, with J. Leslie Kilcoyne, chairman, presiding.

MARRIAGE LICENSES DROP OFF IN JUNE

Merry Month "Ain't What It Used To Be," Say Clerks

A 25 PER CENT DROP

DOYLESTOWN, July 2—Offering no reason other than the conjuncture, "perhaps we are getting near the saturation point," officials of the Bucks County marriage license bureau in the Clerk of Orphans' Court office here, report that "the merry month of June" ain't what she used to be for marriage licenses.

The prospect of wedded bliss has enticed about 25 percent fewer couples this year than last, records for the first six months indicate.

The month of June this year however brought forth a crop of 106 couples who were granted licenses. That was a lot better than June, 1940, when a low for June was reached with only 86 couples, but that was the year the new Pennsylvania marriage license law got started. The good old days ended back in 1939 for June licenses when a total of 293 were issued in one month.

Nearly 40 percent of the 106 licenses issued last month went to men in the armed forces. Some came home to wed on their furlough, while others took licenses before leaving for camp. In quite a few instances last month the three-day Pennsylvania law was waived by the court so that the soldier, sailor or marine on furlough could be married before going back to camp.

The June business this year was a slight increase over the May business, when 93 licenses were issued, and it nearly doubled the March business.

Approximately 50 percent of the applicants in June were non-residents of Bucks county. The average age of the male applicants was 25 and 24 for the females.

Less than five percent of the female applicants in June were unemployed. In fact there was not one male applicant in June who said he was "unemployed."

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT
(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Chance To Retrieve

Washington, July 1. THE personal effect upon Mr. Roosevelt of what has happened to him in Washington the last week—all of it, from his standpoint, bad—may be of more importance than the political effect. With the right effect, it is conceivable the net result may be to regain control over a domestic situation which is deteriorating very fast.

THE RECORD, to put it mildly, is unusual. To the overriding of his anti-strike bill veto, the resignation of his food commissioner, the unholy row between his Vice-President and a member of his Cabinet, must now be added the action of Congress in all but unanimously passing a bill directly aimed at his eleven-week-old "hold-the-line" anti-inflation policy. And there were other things, such as the trimming of the OWI and the wicked amendment requiring all appointees above the $4,000-a-year class to be confirmed by the Senate. A little of what was done is in the national interest; much of it distinctly is not. But, the whole constitutes a breach between the Executive and the legislative branch not pleasant to contemplate.

FOR EXAMPLE, Congressional action in passing the anti-strike bill over the veto and the resignation of Mr. Chester Davis are blows such as no leader can take without some damage. The veto vote was

Ground Broken For 1200 Housing Units

JOHNSVILLE, July 2—The Government broke ground in Warminster township, Bucks county, yesterday for a new village of 5000 population, nearly double the size of nearby Hatfield.

It isn't actually a municipality; strictly speaking it's only a 1200-unit war housing project for employees of Brewster Aeronautical Corporation's Johnsville division. But, when completed 90 days hence, it will be a complete community, even to stores, waterworks and a school with facilities for 600 pupils.

The new development, here at Johnsville and County Line rds., is on the site of the old L. Newton Finney Farm, where the Battle of Crooked Billet was fought in the Revolutionary War. So it was named Lacey Park, after the hero of that battle, General John Lacey.

Lacey Park is a permanent, not a temporary project, with one- and two-story buildings of brick and masonry construction. It is part of a 2000-unit building program to relieve the housing crisis created by the transfer of workers to Johnsville from the Brewster assembly plant at Long Island City, N. Y.

The 800 remaining units are to be built by private interests through the Federal Housing Administration.

Participating in yesterday's ceremonies were Frederick Riebel, Jr., Brewster's president; Charles S. Ascher, regional representative of the National Housing Agency, and John Taylor Egan, regional director of the Federal Public Housing Authority, both of New York, and representatives of the Navy, the War Manpower Commission and other Governmental agencies.

Printer Employed By Firm 42 Years Retires

DOYLESTOWN, July 2—Ferdinand J. Hellyer, who has been employed for the past 42 years by the Doylestown Intelligencer, has retired from active employment.

Mr. Hellyer, a printer by trade, learned the art in the "eighties" in the Bucks County Mirror office, located on N. Main street, and upon completion of his apprenticeship went to Philadelphia where he was employed by the Central Newspaper Union. In those days type was all hand-set, and many compositors were located in a large room setting up news and advertisements for pages of weekly newspapers.

After a period of time Mr. Hellyer returned to Doylestown, securing a position with the Democrat as a compositor, remaining there until 1909, when he accepted a position with The Daily Intelligencer as a pressman and stereotyper.

TEACHER VACANCIES AVERAGE 4 A WEEK

193 Teachers Left Positions In Period of 8 Months In Bucks County

STATEMENT BY BOEHM

DOYLESTOWN, July 2—That announcements are being made at the rate of four per week of school teacher vacancies in Bucks County is given in a statement by Superintendent of Bucks County Schools, Charles H. Boehm.

This means, according to the superintendent, that he and his staff of assistants and the school officials in the various districts will have to find new teachers to take their places before the opening of schools in September.

To date, said Mr. Boehm, 34 unfilled vacancies exist in the elementary field in the county. Commenting upon the situation, Mr. Boehm said at present there is a slight surplus of high school English and social studies teachers.

The demand for new teachers is no greater than it was last year, when there was adequate reserve force, but this year, said Mr. Boehm, there is no reserve. Teachers qualified to be in charge of high school classes are holding out with the hope that they can teach in high schools instead of accepting temporary certificates to teach in the elementary grades.

A few of the smaller high schools in the county, said Mr. Boehm, are planning to have girls' physical education teachers take over the work of the men, a number of whom have entered the armed forces or who have gone into the defense industries. There is little opportunity to replace men physical training teachers and instructors of shop work.

Some of the schools in the county are gradually adjusting themselves to women teachers, who are taking up positions formerly held by men. Some of the positions it

HERO OF AFRICAN CAMPAIGN TELLS FLEETWINGS EMPLOYEES "GIVE ME THE STUFF AND I'LL DISH IT OUT;" WORKERS SEE FILM, "DESERT VICTORY"

"You give me the stuff to do it with, and I'll dish it out to them."

This was the message of Pvt. Edward Gorski, who was wounded during the invasion of North Africa, as he addressed employees of Fleetwings, Division of Kaiser Cargo, Inc., yesterday, at the Grand Theatre.

Pvt. Gorski, a member of the 39th Infantry, 9th Division, was accompanied to Bristol by Sgt. Vincent Toomey, who was injured while making a raid over Rotterdam early this year. The plane, a B-17 Flying Fortress, for which type of craft Fleetwings' employees make parts, had 2000 bullet holes in it upon returning to its base. Pieces of shrapnel struck Sgt. Toomey in the arm and leg, and he appeared on crutches yesterday. Both war heroes are now patients at Valley Forge Hospital, and are eager to get "back in the fight."

Their appearances at the Grand were during five short programs which preceded as many showings

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET EXPANDED RAPIDLY

Gigantic Strength Indicated By Operations Now Underway

FORESHADOW EVENTS

(Editor's note. This is the 2nd of two articles dealing with progress made by American Army and Navy forces during the first six months of 1943. This one on the Navy's part in the developing global offensive is particularly timely in view of the last minute American landings on the central Solomons and the New Guinea area.)

By Joseph A. Bors

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 2—(INS)—The first co-ordinated United Nations offensive against Japan was in full swing today with Allied land, sea and air forces under Gen. Douglas MacArthur smashing from two directions against Japanese-held islands in the south and southwest Pacific.

The surprise news that a two-pronged offensive drive was under way from New Guinea and the Solomons came from MacArthur's headquarters in Australia after the Navy revealed in Washington that American forces had landed on Rendova Island in the central Solomons.

The communique from Australia stated that Allied infantry, naval and air forces operating under MacArthur for the first time had occupied the Woodlark and Trobriand islands and Nassau Bay in the New Guinea area while other United Nations forces invaded Rendova and New Georgia islands in the central Solomons.

Woodlark and Trobriand landings were made without opposition and apparently surprised the Japs despite the fact that the islands are within striking distance of the important enemy base at Salamaua, on northern New Guinea.

Successful landings were reported on Rendova and New Georgia Islands, where Allied forces were engaging Japanese garrisons. Rendova island is only five miles from the important Japanese air base on New Georgia.

Landings in both areas apparently were aimed at bringing American airmen within closer striking distance of the key Japanese base at Rabaul, New Britain.

The Salamaua area is about 400 miles southwest of Rabaul while Munda is 350 miles southeast of Rabaul.

These actions came after months of preparations and conferences between United Nations and American army and navy officials in the war zones and in Washington, indicating that the moves were fitted into the Allied global strategy to smash Germany, Italy and Japan.

It was the first time that Gen. MacArthur was given command of large land, sea and air units since his arrival in Australia to become supreme commander of United Nations forces in the southwest Pacific.

All earlier fighting in the Solomons was under the command of naval officers. Prior to the central Solomons landings, Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr., was in command of American army and navy forces.

Several weeks ago Halsey and MacArthur conferred and undoubtedly the current operations

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Japanese Fleet Disappears

Somewhere in the Southwest Pacific—The Japanese Imperial Navy has dropped from sight.

Up to a late hour this afternoon, not a single element of the Japanese fleet had put in an appearance in any of the widespread areas of offensive action where U. S. and Australian land, sea and air forces under Gen. Douglas MacArthur are hacking a path of progress along the island route to Tokyo.

Air power alone—and at great cost to themselves—has been offered by the Japs at Rendova in the New Georgia group and along the coast of New Guinea where Allied forces in overwhelming numbers are being deployed against enemy bases.

These operations are now in their third day, and the Japs have not dared to send any of their naval craft to areas within the ever-widening range of American land-based air power.

The series of blistering air blows levelled against Rabaul and other Jap bases in the Pacific during the past 72 hours by Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney's United Nations airmen are believed to be the weight which is swinging the pendulum of the present sustained offensive in Allied favor.

Stephan Sentence Commuted to Life Imprisonment

Detroit—The U. S. Government today was preparing to bundle Max Stephan, convicted German born traitor, off to a Federal penitentiary for safekeeping, whereas less than 24 hours previously, it was planning his death. ## BRISTOL SOLDIER NAMES HIS FATHER AS A BENEFICIARY

Will of Geo. Stanley Schell, Who Lost Life In Africa

THE JORDAN ESTATE

Trust Fund of $1000 Is Created For A Home At Allentown

DOYLESTOWN, July 2—A young Bristol soldier, George Stanley Schell, who lost his life while serving with the army in North Africa on January 5th, named his father, James A. Schell, Wood street, Bristol, heir to his personal estate of $350. Mr. Schell was also named executor of the estate. The will was executed on August 31, 1942.

The creation of a $1000 trust fund for the Good Shepherd Home in Allentown and a fund consisting of his residuary estate for the Quakertown Hospital Association are the main bequests made in the will of J. Miles Jordan, late of Quakertown, who died May 25th. Both funds are to be known (individually) as "The J. Miles and Ellen Jordan Trust Fund."

Numerous other bequests were made by the late Mr. Jordan. Heirs named in the will, which is dated December 11, 1934, include: Asher B. Blehn, Quakertown; Richard L. Blehn, Quakertown; Carrie Hutzell; Hannah, Paul and Miles Pennypacker, all of Perkasie; Anna Kehm, Allentown; Joseph B. Harmer, Drexel Hill; Isabella Scheetz, Frederick Krikony, Anna Zerns, Jennie Todd, Quakertown; Marie Dickinson, Richland township; and Marlin and Mary Reichard, Quakertown.

Asher B. Blehn, 214 East Broad street, Quakertown, was named executor of the will.

Naming Donald DeLacy, New Hope, executor of his estate, Edward F. Davis, New Hope, bequeathed $500 each to three grandchildren, Paul, Howard and Eva Solomon; $1000 to his daughter-in-law, Edith W. Davis, and the remainder of his estate, which is valued at $4850, to his daughter, Florence Lear Solomon, Trenton, N. J.

The testator, who executed his will July 20, 1942, died June 4.

No executor was named in the will of Eva Alice Seidinger, Lower Southampton township, and letters were granted to Arthur S. Yoke, 212 Ridge avenue, Allentown. The estate valued at $4400, was bequeathed to a brother, Arthur, and a nephew, Russell.

The will was made December 30, 1941 and the testator died April 1st.

Clinton G. Morris, Morrisville, was bequeathed a house at 327 Crown street, Morrisville, in the will of his father, Robert Morris, Falls township. The remainder of the estate, valued at $2375, will be divided among four children, Beatrice M. Duke, Nellie M. Stradling, Robert W. Morris and Clinton G. Morris. Robert W. Morris was named executor of the will which was dated March 16, 1939. The testator died May 29th.

Lewis Fisher was named heir to the $1700 estate of his brother, Ira H. Fisher, of Solebury township, who died April 24. Letters were granted to Edward R. Kirk, the named executor having renounced. The will was executed August 16, 1924.

Naming his widow, Lydia Ann Bleam, Quakertown, executrix of his estate, Harry Bleam, who died May 28, bequeathed $200 to his son, Walter, and the remainder to the widow. The will was executed April 13, 1931.

J. Watson Paxson, Buckingham Valley, was named executor and sole heir to the estate of his mother, Mary Jane Paxson, Buckingham township, who died April 23, 1941. The estate is valued at $193 and the will was executed December 19, 1939.

FEMININE INDEPENDENCE

One thing is free on the nation's food front—advice. It is being doled out, shoveled out and in enormous volume to housewives, especially housewives whose domicile has a Victory garden in connection.

The confused housewife, between counting points and reading up on canning, studies prices of fresh vegetables—which this spring have been the highest in history—and wonders. Some are cooking all the vegetables they can use for the table, selling the surplus and buying vegetables ready canned. It will amaze shrewd business men to learn that some housewives are past-masters at aligning points, prices, supply of fresh vegetables and canned foods.

Some are able to prove that they can sell garden vegetables and buy the same items canned, save time, worry and work and come out even on the transaction.

This area has a large percentage of housewives who prefer their own canning to factory canned products, and so frequently a meeting of women takes on the tone of a canning bee. Each woman has a personal touch to add to what she hears or has been taught.

The ladies read the government's advice, which floods the country in ever-increasing volume, and exercising the unalienable right of American citizens to independence in thinking and acting, take short cuts and devise improvements, probably to the disappointment of the bureaucrats.

That's a healthy note. It shows that the great American home's keystone is far removed from regimentation.

CIVILIAN GOODS

Quick conquest of the island approaches to Italy by overwhelming air power gave the United Nations a tremendous lift in morale and even was responsible for the roseate hope that "one of these mornings we will wake up and find that Hitler has surrendered."

It is not going to be so easy as that, and as a reminder that there is still a lot of fighting to be endured by the nation, the WPB has indicated that it will be hardly possible to think of restoring cut-off civilian goods to production until late in 1944.

This means that there are really leaner days ahead for the civilian, who is going to find that his goods and services will be 20 per cent under the end of last year. Furthermore, unavoidable inequalities of distribution likely will aggravate the burden on consumers. As a result of all this, the WPB is being assailed with demands from all sides that some resumption of the manufacture of civilian goods be permitted.

The situation in steel is fairly typical of the problem faced by the nation. Since the war began considerable savings in steel have been made. By elimination of some products and through streamlined styles for others, the nation has been able to save this year the equivalent of 5,000,000 tons of steel. At the same time the estimates of steel requirements for the armed forces have been cut to a minimum.

TO THE MEN AND WOMEN OF
THE RESINOUS PRODUCTS & CHEMICAL COMPANY,
PHILADELPHIA

☆ The Army-Navy "E" is the highest decoration given to civilians for production achievement. For their excellence in war production, this award has just been given to the workers . . . both men and women . . . of The Resinous Products & Chemical Company.

We are, naturally, proud to receive this coveted award. Although this honor is given for our past work, we realize that it stands as a challenge to each of us to push production records still higher.

This challenge will be met.

AIRPLANES, GLIDERS, landing barges, PT boats and prefabricated houses are made of today's newer, finer plywood. This wonder wood was originally developed with the notable aid of synthetic glues or bonding agents made by the workers of The Resinous Products & Chemical Company.

TANKS, TRUCKS, battleships, hundreds of war products are protected by paints and finishes made with this Company's materials. A rubber-like coating widely used to assure prolonged inflation of life rafts in emergencies, is but one of countless war applications for products made in our plants.

MAKING SYNTHETIC RUBBER, medicines, drugs, dyes and chemicals calls for huge quantities of extremely pure water. This need is met by AMBERLITE Ion Exchange resins. We manufacture these, as well as modifiers and plasticizers for both natural and synthetic rubber.

SEVERAL MONTHS AGO the workers of our associate, Rohm & Haas Company, were awarded the Army-Navy "E". PLEXIGLAS, the plastic which forms many transparent parts aboard every type Army and Navy plane, is but one Rohm & Haas war product developed from peacetime research.

Declaration of Independence

IN CONGRESS JULY 4TH, 1776

THE UNANIMOUS DECLARATION OF THE THIRTEEN UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

WHEN, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.—We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.—That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed.—That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security.—Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world.—He has refused his Assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.—He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his Assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.—He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature, a right inestimable to them and formidable to tyrants only.—He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.—He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.—He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected;—whereby the Legislative powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the meantime exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without and convulsions within.—He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the Laws for Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migrations hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of Lands.—He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to Laws, for establishing Judiciary powers.—He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.—He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.—He has kept among us, in times of peace, Standing Armies without the consent of our Legislatures.—He has affected to render the Military independent of and superior to Civil power.—He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our Laws; giving his Assent to their Acts of pretended Legislation:—For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:—For protecting them, by a mock Trial, from punishment for any Murders which they should commit on the Inhabitants of these States:—For cutting off our Trade with all parts of the world:—For imposing Taxes, on us without our Consent:—For depriving us in many cases of the benefits of Trial by Jury:—For transporting us beyond Seas to be tried for pretended offences:—For abolishing the free System of English Laws in a neighboring Province, establishing therein an Arbitrary government, and enlarging its Boundaries so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these Colonies:—For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws, and altering fundamentally the Forms of our Governments:—For suspending our own Legislature, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.—He has abdicated Government here, by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us.—He has plundered our seas, ravaged our Coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the Lives of our people.—He is at this time transporting large Armies of foreign Mercenaries to compleat the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of Cruelty & perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous age, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized nation.—He has constrained our fellow-citizens taken Captive on the high Seas to bear Arms against their Country, to become the executioners of their friends and Brethren, or to fall themselves by their Hands.—He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian Savages, whose known rule of warfare, is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions. In every stage of these Oppressions we have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble terms: Our repeated Petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A Prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people. Nor have we been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our Separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, Enemies in War, in Peace, Friends.—

We, therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress, Assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name, and by Authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be, FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES; that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain, is and ought to be totally dissolved; and that as free and Independent States, they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of right do.—And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor.

over a 1,000 mile arc were the result of that meeting.

The major offensive came as a stunning climax to the first six months of warfare in the Pacific this year which consisted mainly of consolidating United Nations positions and preparing for further blows against Japan.

The developments provided a startling answer to the puzzling question of where and when the United Nations would strike in the Pacific with the forces they were known to be assembling.

The year began with forces under MacArthur sweeping the Japanese off the Papuan Peninsula of New Guinea while American Army troops under Halsey crushed the Japanese garrison on Guadalcanal.

The southwest Pacific war zone then settled down to months of aerial engagements in which the Japanese suffered heavy casualties in virtually every battle.

Meanwhile the Navy was busy expanding and reinforcing land bases for concentrated air blows against the Japs in the South Pacific.

These included the occupation in February of the Russell Islands, 60 miles northwest of Guadalcanal and Funafuti in the Ellice Islands, within striking distance of the Japanese island of Tarawa.

Subsequently, Army, Navy and Marine airmen stepped up their aerial offensive against the Japs in the Munda area and in the northern Solomons. Several raids also were made against the enemy's islands of Nauru and Tarawa.

In May interest was diverted from the south and southwest Pacific temporarily while U. S. army troops under Navy command invaded and recaptured from the Japanese the island of Attu in the western Aleutians.

During those months, America's Pacific fleet was expanding rapidly and its present gigantic strength was indicated by the operations now underway.

The fleet not only had to prepare for combat operations but it also had to guard huge convoys needed to move required supplies over thousands of miles of the Pacific.

Foreboding still greater events to come, Secretary of the Navy Knox in a speech in Hollywood stated that the United States now has the most powerful fleet in the world by actual commission. Knox declared that by the end of this year "we shall have increased that fleet over the fleet of 1942 by 60 per cent in tonnage and 100 per cent in number."

This indicated that the United States soon should have a fleet consisting of nearly 1,000 ships of all types.

Specific figures are not available but it was known that the United States entered the war with 344 combat vessels built and 347 under construction. The latter figure was loosened considerably following the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. Although the major portion of America's sea power has been concentrated in the Pacific, there still are powerful units in the Atlantic, where American and British escort vessels recently have dealt smashing blows to Germany's all-out U-boat offensive against United Nations shipping. P-boat raids and merchant ship sinkings have decreased sharply during the past three months.

was confined to patrols during which four enemy aircraft were shot down and no Allied planes were lost.

Reports out of Europe indicated serious weakening of the Nazi home front as a result of Allied bombing. The German radio said Syria was in the grip of rising tension in anticipation of imminent important developments. Travel has been greatly restricted and nightly curfew instituted in many Syrian cities, the German broadcast said.

In Russia, Moscow reported a damaging air raid by Soviet heavy bombers on the port of Kerch and Sennaya in the Crimea, indicating stepping up of the Russian drive to push the Germans from their precarious southern bridgehead to the Caucasus. German warships and port installations were heavily damaged by the Russian bombs.

Moscow also reported the slaying of 600 Germans yesterday by Red army units which beat off 23 counterattacks within six days on captured positions on the Kalinin front northwest of Moscow. Artillery action was reported on the central, southern and Donets river fronts.

of us took over the railroad station, and I don't know what we would have done without the planes to protect us. It was teamwork that counted: teamwork on the part of the army, the air force, and the navy which landed us safely.

"And walking through the towns was like walking through a death trap. There were plenty of booby traps. When you went to examine a house, and stepped into the door-way you were never sure what you touched would blow you up. After we took Algiers we had a few months of so-called rest. But during that rest period we had to unload boats, get off the supplies of airplanes, food, camp equipment, etc. We worked for three or four weeks, 16 to 18 hours a day. And we didn't kick about it. We slept on the ground, and I had a blanket and a shelter half during the four months I slept on the ground.

"At one pass where we started a fight with the enemy it was hell. I saw one of our fellows blown up by a booby trap. There was nothing left where he had been standing, not even a drop of blood. At one point the Germans broke through the line and surrounded us. It took us two weeks to get out of that trap.

"I went up to one pass three times before I got mine. And I want to tell you it is no fun following the tanks for you must watch out for the German SS's. The only thing the Germans have that I think is good is the SS. But we can take care of those too, and when my ear heals I'll be back there."

Pvt. Gorski told of attacking an enemy machine-gun position at three o'clock one morning. "We kept running ahead, and each of us threw our grenades. We knocked out two gun nests. The Germans tried to hit us with shells. I told my superior I was not over a

Today's Quiet Moment (By the Rev. James R. Galley) Pastor

Forgive us, O Loving Father, of the many sins we have committed. Many times we have erred; often deliberately; often without an awareness of our sin. We know that we have sinned and fallen short of that glory which Thou wouldst desire of us. Humbly we pray for forgiveness in the Name of Him Who was purity personified. Who knew no sin, but Who for our sakes assumed the guilt of all mankind as He suffered upon the Cross at Calvary. Through Him also give us strength, that in the days before us we might live the life which we know to be His will. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

hill to try to knock out another nest we knew was on the other side. I had a chance to throw only one grenade when that shell struck three feet from me."

Sgt. Toomey, whose home is in New Philadelphia, and who is also the recipient of the Purple Heart award, took part in the Dieppe raid. In speaking of that experience he mentioned: "It was 11 hours of hell for most of those men. I was there for several hours myself and I know what it was like."

Sgt. Toomey, as tail gunner on a Flying Fortress, made 19 raids over German territory.

Patriotic numbers were led by Ernest Gamble, of Fleetwings, with Mrs. Gamble serving as accompanist.

ON THE SCREENS

GRAND THEATRE

A sprightly yarn about crystal gazing and clairvoyance, filled with comedy, romance and adventure, is "The Crystal Ball," the newest vehicle co-starring Paulette Goddard and Ray Milland, which will have its local premiere at the Grand Theatre today.

Down to her last 35 cents, young and lovely Toni Gerard, played by Paulette Goddard, plunges all at the honky-tonk of Madame Zenobia (Glady's George), teller of fortunes, who gets Toni a job as a sharp-shooting "shill" next door at the shooting gallery of Pop Tibbets (Cecil Kellaway).

BRISTOL THEATRE

For the P. R. C. production, "Corregidor," several miniature scenes were constructed, to authentically reproduce the events of the epic struggle of 28 days for the underground Philippine fortress.

These had to be checked by the War Department. Anything that touches on the war in a motion picture must receive an official okay from the Washington officials. "Corregidor" is now showing at the Bristol.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

essentially a vote of no confidence. It showed distrust of both the judgment and intent of the President by the legislative body in both branches of which his own party has decisive majorities. As has been pointed out, had such a vote occurred in the House of Commons, Mr. Churchill would have resigned and a new government been formed. With us, of course, no such physical change is possible, but so striking a rebuff does affect things in other ways.

THE retirement of Mr. Davis has shaken the Administration up pretty badly. For, he is no dollar-a-year businessman quitting because he can't have his own way. On the contrary, he is an old friend of the President, and a New Dealer. Also, he is an able and honest man. He resigned because Mr. Roosevelt's failure to give him promised authority made it impossible for him to do the job to which he had been assigned and he could not stay and retain self-respect. The cold note of dismissal with which he accepted his resignation, together with his discourtesy in refusing his request for a personal interview, do not reflect credit upon Mr. Roosevelt either as an individual or an executive.

WHATEVER the merits of the Wallace-Milo Perkins attack on Mr. Jones (and it is certain that Mr. Jones is neither as wicked nor as stupid as portrayed in the excited and extravagant statement of the Vice-President), the exhibition of disunity and disorder within the Administration is singularly unedifying to the public and, one would think, distressing to the President. Now, if the effect upon Mr. Roosevelt of all these things should be to compel a realization of the truth, the results, instead of being bad, might be very good. Indeed, certainly it would be beneficial to the national interest if they induced some degree of humility in the President; if they brought recognition that vital domestic problems have been bungled, that a state bordering on demoralization exists within his administration, and that, partly at any rate, he is responsible for these conditions. If upon reflection the President reached this conclusion and then proceeded to act upon some of the sound advice for which he has asked, but rejected, the whole outlook would be greatly improved.

HOWEVER, if Mr. Roosevelt continues to pretend that no mistakes have been made, that the men he has put in key positions are all competent, that the resignation of a man like Mr. Davis makes no difference and that rebuffs from Congress are due to its own wrong-headedness and not a reflection of public feeling — if that is to be his position, then further disintegration is pretty sure to follow. For, no matter how good the advice Mr. Baruch gives Mr. Byrnes nor how anxious Mr. Byrnes is to act upon it, nothing really can be done unless the President is willing to retrieve past errors and make some drastic changes in policies and personnel. On paper he has delegated power to Mr. Byrnes, but the delegation is unreal. He stands exactly where he stood before and can be neither by-passed nor detoured.

THERE is still hope, but it must be confessed the Presidential attitude and acts since the Davis resignation are not indicative of willingness to recognize or to concede mistakes. Aside from the shabbiness with which Mr. Davis was treated, appointment as his successor of a docile New Deal ex-Congressman, once chairman of the House Agriculture Committee and later a Federal judge, has aroused no enthusiasm at all. Nor did his most recent attack upon the press on Tuesday encourage belief that there is the least disposition to admit a flaw either in his own handling of the home front or in his subordinates. So long as that frame of mind persists there is no chance.

AS TO HIS press obsession, that has reached a ridiculous stage. Taking advantage of the protection afforded against the obvious retorts by his White House occupancy and irritated by the lack of results, his slurs and accusations grow more angry and more absurd. And, through his own repetitions and such silly imitations of his criticism as given recently by the solemn Mr. Elmer Davis, they are becoming increasingly unimportant. The Washington correspondents do not take Mr. Roosevelt seriously on this subject. Better than anyone else they know the inaccuracies of his comments and are able correctly to judge the reasons for his animus. The net effect upon them is to diminish respect, even among those who have been personally friendly. It could not fail to do that.

DIAMOND SCORES SHUTOUT VICTORY WITH TWO HITS

Mill Street Nine Defeats
Volv-Texaco by Score of 1 to 0

ENDS THE FIRST-HALF

Bragg Was On The Mound
For the Gasoleers
Team

Although held to two hits, the Diamond team closed the first half of the Bristol Suburban League by scoring a shutout victory over the Volt-Texaco nine, 1-0, on the Rohm and Haas field.

"Loggie" Bragg was the hurler who held the Mill streeters to the pair of bingles but one of them accounted for the only marker of the tilt. He helped his own downfall by issuing a pass to the first batter, not one Diamond player reached second base and only two got as far as first. Bragg retired the last fifteen batters to face him, one reaching base but being couched-up on the next ball pitched.

Dick Hirst did the hurling for the winners and although in several tight spots pulled through with the shutout win. He held the gasoleers to four hits, one of which was a triple by Howard Black. He struck out five and walked two.

The lone tally of the tilt was chalked up in the first when Scancelli walked, was sacrificed to second by Falkenberg, advanced to third on passed ball, and scored on a hit by Pappatera.

Black opened the second inning with a triple but the next three batters could not advance him. In the fourth, both Black and DiTanna reached base on errors by Morgan but the next three batters were easy outs.

According to Mr. Boehm, the greatest difficulty is to get candidates for rural schools. Young men and women recently graduated from teachers' colleges, it was said, show a decided preference to teach in the town schools. This indicates that boards in rural areas will have more difficulty in filling the vacancies.

New Blow Struck at Sardinian Port

Allied Headquarters in North Africa—A new blow by British Wellington bombers of the strategic air force against the Sardinian port and capital city of Cagliari, renewing widespread devastation in that key Axis bastion, was announced by Allied spokesmen today.

The Wellingtons blasted Cagliari Wednesday night, a communique issued at Allied headquarters revealed, and plastered the entire target area with bombs. Four thousand pound blockbusters ripped up large sections of the city, with one of them observed bursting close to Cagliari's main railway station.

Several roaring fires lighted the sky, the communique said. Meanwhile, Australian made Beaufighters and RAF down Marauder medium bombers stepped up their activity over the Mediterranean itself with a series of offensive sweeps in which they pounced on isolated enemy shipping.

The swift-flying Beaufighters turned their cannon on a two-masted schooner of 800 tons which soon began to sink, while the Marauders attacked two other schooners. One was left in a sinking condition while results of the second assault were not disclosed.

SPORTSMEN'S BRIEFS

By JOE ELBERSON

Bass and pickerel season opened at midnight Wednesday in the Commonwealth with many local anglers on hand at the Canal and Silver Lake. Several catches were made, but nothing exceptional has been reported to this department thus far. Met Pat McGee on the Canal Thursday morning about 1:30. He had two nice bass, the larger weighing two pounds. Pat very seldom comes home empty-handed!

Local blue rock trap shooters, participating in the 53rd Annual State shoot at Reading a few days ago, hung up some mighty fine scores, even though no championships were brought back to this section.

From all reports, the localites, who represented both the Rohm and Haas Gun Club and the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association, really turned in some excellent scores. Probably a little more practice will put these boys at the top next year.

Bill Warner, Washington street, led the local group with a score of 95 out of 100 targets. Warner is just about the best shot in these parts, and his consistent, steady accuracy has put him in the forefront amongst local shooters. A bad start accounted for the total score of Warner's.

He dropped 4 birds out of the first 15, and then came right back to miss only one in the next 85 targets. That's really shooting!

Dr. Brodesch, Cornwells Heights, won the Class D shoot with a score of 91.

Clem Mather and Charles Bittle, both of Langhorne, racked up scores of 90 and 85, respectively. Irving Scheffey, Bristol veteran, turned in a nice 88 in the tournament. J. Picciotti, Langhorne, turned in with an 85, and Nunzio Rubino finished with a score of 86. C. Ashton, Rohm & Haas shooter, had a total of 87.

J. R. Grove, York sharpshooter, cracked 100 straight 16-yard targets to take the State Amateur championship.

Mrs. Fred W. Hess, Phila., won the women's championship for the second straight year by smashing 92 out of 100 targets.

In the last round three local shooters, William Warner, Irving Scheffey and Dr. Brodesch, shot in the same squad with Mrs. Hess. The squad turned in a score of 123 out of a possible 125. Mrs. Hess has a score of 24. William Warner, 25; Dr. Brodesch, 24; Irving Scheffey, 25; and J. Martin, 25.

Morry Gelman, enthusiastic Mill street angler, has been quite successful in taking both white and yellow perch at the pier at the foot of Mill street, during the past two weeks.

Black bears in Pennsylvania killed twenty-eight sheep and destroyed twenty beehives since May 10 this year, according to damage claims received by the Game Commission. Eighteen claims for bear damage, totalling $495.00, were received from six counties; the heaviest damage occurring in Potter and Clinton Counties. Other claims came from McKean, Tioga, Elk and Forest Counties.

Bears this Spring have become quite daring in their eagerness to obtain beehives and sheep. In some cases coming literally to the door of the property-owner in search of their prey. In one instance, Vincent A. Verbeck, of Woolrich, Clinton County, suffered the loss of fourteen large hives of bees, and in another a large bear broke through the door of John Gottshall's residence in the Caldwell area of Clinton County, while his wife and small daughter were alone in the house. Although the mother and daughter were badly frightened, they were unharmed by the bear, which evidently scented some food in the kitchen and proceeded to hunt for it.

While most wild bears prefer the natural food of the forests, such as beechnuts and berries of various kinds, there are always a few individuals who go berserk and acquire bad habits. When they get a taste of certain domestic products, they are most difficult to control, and often the only remedy is to kill the marauding creatures. There is an annual appropriation of $3000 from the Game Fund for payment of legitimate damages by bears to livestock, poultry and bees. Sometimes bears kill pigs and chickens for food. This Spring a photographer for the Com-

A message to Miss America

We can't blame your boy-friend for wanting to talk as long as you'll stay on the line.

And we're glad that Dan Cupid finds our telephone service so useful in arranging his very important affairs.

But won't you . . . please . . . remember that war needs the wires these days—and keep your calls as brief as possible?

It's not that we put War ahead of Cupid, but "little Dan" wouldn't be happy doing the goose-step with a swastika in his hand.

So we'll just remind you again that war is on the wires. Please keep your calls brief—well, reasonably brief, anyway. You can say a great deal, you know, with just three little words.
